

INFORMED CONSENT TO PARTICIPATE IN RESEARCH

1. Project Supervisor

Dear participant,

You are invited to take part in a research project coordinated by Prof. Marco Faillo (University of Trento). Before deciding whether to participate, it is important that you have the information required to make an informed and responsible choice. Please read this document carefully and feel free to ask any questions by sending us a message on Prolific, or by sending an email to marco.faillo@unitn.it

2. Brief Description and Objectives

The research project aims to analyze individuals' behavior in relation to certain attitudes and decisions in the economic domain, using incentivized economic experiments as its main research methodology.

To achieve this goal, participants will take part in stylized decision-making scenarios and complete a short anonymous questionnaire concerning socio-demographic characteristics, political attitudes, and other individual characteristics that are potentially relevant to economic decision-making.

3. What Does Participation Involve?

Participation in the project involves completing some simple decision tasks and answering a few questions.

During the experiment, participants may receive limited information about characteristics of potential interaction partners in aggregated form (i.e., information on whether someone falls into a broad category but never exact personal information).

The entire activity will take approximately 20 minutes. Participants will receive a fixed payment plus an additional amount that depends on the outcomes of their decisions and the decisions of others, as is described in more detail in the instructions.

4. Potential Benefits, Discomforts and/or Risks of Participation

Participation is voluntary.

There are no specific social, economic, or legal risks, nor should there be significant emotional stress associated with taking part in this study.

5. Withdrawal from the Study

You have the right to withdraw your consent at any time, without notice or the need to provide a specific reason.

If you withdraw before submitting your responses, your data will not be stored.

However, once your data have been fully anonymized and incorporated into the research dataset, deletion is no longer possible because individual records can no longer be linked to participants.

6. Feedback

You have the right to request information about the results and outcomes of the study.
For this purpose, you may contact Marco Faillo: marco.faillo@unitn.it

7. Measures to Ensure Anonymity

All data will be collected anonymously and processed exclusively for scientific purposes.

Data will be stored securely and processed in compliance with the European Union General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

Only members of the research team will have access to the data. No personal information will be disclosed to third parties.

Experimental results will only be reported in aggregated form.

8. Contacts

For any questions or further information regarding the study, you may contact:
Marco Faillo: marco.faillo@unitn.it who can provide any additional information or explanations.

By clicking “Proceed,” you

DECLARE:

That you have read the above information;

that you understand that participation in the study is completely voluntary, and that you may withdraw from the study at any time, without having to provide an explanation and without suffering any disadvantage;

that you understand the nature of the study, the activities involved, and the potential risks;
that you understand that some aspects of the study cannot be fully disclosed before participation for methodological reasons, but that no false information will be provided at any time during the study.

and you

to participate in the study, with the understanding that this consent is given freely and can be revoked at any time without any disadvantage.
